Subject: Call for nominations for the 2019 UNESCO Prize for Girls' and Women's Education

Sir/Madam,

I have the honour to invite your Government to submit nominations for the 2019 edition of the UNESCO Prize for Girls' and Women's Education. The Prize consists of two annual awards of US $50,000 for each recipient.

Funded by the Government of the People's Republic of China, the Prize was established by the Executive Board in October 2015 and was awarded for the first time in 2016. It aims to honour and showcase outstanding projects advancing education for girls and women undertaken by individuals, groups, organizations or other entities. It will be awarded for the fourth time at a ceremony that will take place in Paris on 11 October 2019, on the occasion of the International Day of the Girl Child.

The nomination process will take place online via a platform accessible through the UNESCO website, available from 8 March until 28 May 2019, at the following link: <http://unesco.org/gwe>

Nominations may be submitted by the governments of Member States via their Permanent Delegations to UNESCO, and by Non-Governmental Organizations (NGO) in official partnership with UNESCO. Each Permanent Delegation or NGO may not submit more than three nominations for any one edition of the Prize.

The online nominations should be received by UNESCO in English or French by 28 May 2019 at midnight. Any nomination received after midnight (UTC+1 Paris time), or through a different channel will not be considered.

Further information on the UNESCO Prize on Girls' and Women's Education and the nomination process can be found at <http://on.unesco.org/gweprize>

Any enquiries with regard to the nomination process should be addressed directly to the Secretariat of the Prize (Ms Justine Sass, Section of Education for Inclusion and Gender Equality, UNESCO; tel: +33 1 45 68 10 20; e-mail: gweprize@unesco.org).

UNESCO Prize for Girls' and Women's Education

Explanatory Note for the 2019 Call for Nominations

A. Background

Since 2000, there has been real progress made in advancing girls' and women's access to education at all levels. But far too many girls face persistent barriers to their education, particularly those in emergencies and in conflict-affected and fragile states. 132 million girls remain out of school and 15 million girls, compared to 10 million boys, will never set foot in a classroom. Millions more drop out before completing the full cycle of education, and progress for the most marginalized is far too slow. Girls face challenges that prevent them from reaching their full potential, even when they have access to education. These include inadequate sanitation facilities, gender-based violence in and around school, child marriage, and gender norms and discrimination inside and outside of the classroom. Women make up two-thirds of the 750 million illiterate adults, linked to this historical disadvantage.

Educating a girl is one of the best investments her family, community, and country can make. Educated girls are more likely to be healthier, better paid in the workplace, and more empowered to participate in social, economic, civic and political affairs. This transformative effect contributes to a better world for us all.

The UNESCO Prize for Girls' and Women's Education rewards outstanding practices of individuals, institutions other entities or non-governmental organizations advancing girls' and women's education. The Prize was established by the Executive Board of UNESCO at its 197th session, and launched in 2016 with generous support by the government of the People's Republic of China. The Prize contributes to two Sustainable Development Goals: "Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all" (Goal 4) and "Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls" (Goal 5).

B. Nominations

Nominations can be made by Governments of UNESCO Member States via their Permanent Delegations to UNESCO and National Commissions for UNESCO, and Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) in official partnership with UNESCO. Nominations must focus on an established project or programme of the nominee specifically advancing girls' and women's education. Each permanent delegation or NGO can make up to three nominations for any edition of the Prize. Self-nominations are not accepted. See submission procedure below.

C. Selection Criteria

The two Prize laureates will be selected by UNESCO's Director-General on the basis of recommendations made by the independent International Jury of the UNESCO Prize on Girls' and Women's Education, consisting of five experts from all geographical regions.

The nominations will only be considered if the project/programme:

- has a clear focus on advancing girls' and women's education, and the promotion of gender equality in and through education, and contributes to one or more of the five priority areas of the Prize:
 1. Participation: Supporting girls/adolescent girls to transition from primary education to lower-secondary education and to complete full basic education
 2. Literacy: Supporting adolescent girls and young women to acquire literacy skills
 3. Environment: Supporting the creation of a gender-responsive and safe teaching-learning environment, free of school-related gender-based violence
 4. Teachers: Engaging female and male teachers to develop gender-responsive teaching attitudes and practices and be change agents in favour of girls' education
 5. Skills: Supporting adolescent girls and young women to acquire knowledge and skills for them to adequately transition from school to work and lead a fulfilling life.
- has already been running for at least two years
- shows evidence that it may be replicable, scalable and/or provide significant learning potential for initiatives in other contexts

Once it has passed the basic eligibility requirements, the project/programme of the nominee will be assessed by the Jury based on the following three criteria:

1. Impact

The project/programme's impact should be qualitatively and/or quantitatively measurable, and deliver tangible results relative to the invested resources. This can include demonstrable changes in:

- attitudes, beliefs and practices in favour of girls' and women's education;
- girls' educational participation, attendance, completion and learning outcomes;
- removing barriers to girls' and women's education, such as gender bias and stereotypes.

2. Innovation

The project/programme is stimulating, and/or drawing on, innovative approaches advancing girls' and women's education. This includes new ways of working where "business as usual" has failed, and transformative "out-of-the-box" thinking and actions. The project/programme can demonstrate innovation in terms of:

- the themes covered;
- the methodology employed;
- the channels used to create change for girls' and women's education;
- the specific knowledge mobilised about gender-related aspects of girls' and women's education in order to elaborate innovative solutions; and/or
- other aspects, such as tools and products advancing girls' and women's education

3. Sustainability

The project/programme has taken steps, ideally from its design or implementation phases, to ensure it will have a lasting impact on girls' and women's education beyond the project lifecycle. This may include efforts to ensure the:

- continuation of local action in favour of girls' and women's education;
- institutionalization of approaches, tools and products, to advance girls' and women's education; and
- sustainable ways to ensure stakeholders' mobilization
- generation of further initiatives to advance girls' and women's education as a result of the project/programme.
